

SOUTHWARK

The Southwark is a traditional eight panelled copper lantern that is based on similar, original, lanterns seen in and around the Tower of London.

The Southwark is a robust lantern with a heritage look and feel that is reminiscent of Victorian England. Beautifully designed and even more beautifully made, the Southwark lantern is handcrafted from copper and is available with an access door or hinged lid for easy access for maintenance purposes. The frame structure is strengthened with stainless steel inserts and can withstand tough environments and conditions.
